

Reflections on my open science practice

Ann-Marie Creaven, PhD

Associate Professor in Psychology

UNIVERSITY OF LIMERICK
OLLSCOIL LUIMNIGH

Why I am interested in open science

- Unable to replicate research findings
 - Frustration with reports about secondary outcomes
 - Revising teaching materials when established phenomena are refuted
 - Swamped by the deluge!
 - Important for early-career researchers
- A large yellow triangle is positioned in the bottom right corner of the slide, pointing towards the top right. It is partially cut off by the right edge of the slide.
